Government Structure

The City of North Las Vegas has a council-manager form of government. The City Council is composed of a Mayor and four Council Members, all of whom are elected at-large. With the exception of the Mayor, each Council Member represents the district in which he or she resides. The Council's responsibilities include creating policy, enacting and enforcing ordinances, passing resolutions, and appointing the City Manager, who serves as the city's Chief Executive Officer.

Clark County is governed by a seven member County Commission. Biennially, County Commissioners elect a Chair as the presiding officer of the county government. The county's administrative duties are carried out by a County Manager who is hired by the Commission.

The Southern Nevada Health District Board of Health provides Las Vegas' health services. The 13 member Board, which functions primarily as a policy-making body, consists of two representatives of the Board of County Commissioners, two representatives of the governing body of the largest incorporated city in the county, one representative of the governing body of each other city in the county, and five at-large members who are selected by the Board. At-large members include two physicians, one registered nurse, one environmental specialist, and one member of a business or industry that is regulated by the health district. A Chief Health Officer oversees the Board. Major Board responsibilities include identifying public health needs and determining health priorities.
